

ATLANTIC SCHOOLS OF BUSINESS (ASB) ANNUAL AWARD FOR SERVICE TO ASB

The Executive Committee of the Atlantic Schools of Business is proud to announce that Dean George Karaphillis has been awarded the Annual Award for Service to the Atlantic Schools of Business for 2021. The Award recognizes the important and consistent role played by the nominee in supporting the association and its various educational, research, and conference activities over time.

George has been attending ASB conferences since the late 1980s and he has actively promoted participation from Cape Breton University since 2013, when he began serving as associate dean and dean. This included hosting the 2019 ASB conference.

In accepting the news of his award George expressed the view that he thought the ASB served as a great venue to connect with peers, share insights, and build on collaborative opportunities in a supportive environment; all leading towards a stronger sector for the region. He added that he believed that regional conferences serve a vital role in building capacity.

George will receive his award in conjunction with this year's 2021 ASB conference.

